

LinkaOnline Newsletter - Edition 4

Bringing together the new community of model makers, enthusiasts and scenery creators in our great Linka Revival quest.

Whats New

Well here we are at our fourth newsletter, how the time just flies by!. there is still a lot going on in the Linka revival world, although sometimes it feels like I am peddling backwards!. with so many projects on the go the key is trying to keep bringing something new to the party. So new on the horizon are some new and exciting products which are all in the pipeline but very close to coming on stream. check the latest updates.

Investing in the Future

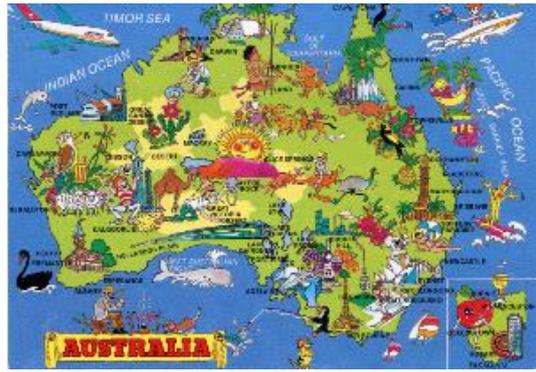

Well so far since I launched the website every penny made from ebay sales and the online shop have been re-invested to bring new stuff online and the trend is set to continue well into the future. due to having to work for a living and not having any spare time it seemed the right step to employ a third party to now produce all the new moulds. so within the next few weeks I will be free again to concentrate on totally new products

So starting with 3D plans and technologies we can make the components, draw the plans and make the moulds - leading on to making the buildings and getting the products on line. thats the next 6 month phase that will be underway. so I hope you will stay with us through the next 6 months so we can look back and see how far we have travelled

News From Down Under

There are lots of new and exciting things going on down under, as you know Tony is always working on the new master products for us to use in our Linka or scenery creations. well this next month will bring a host of other fantastic products. from new roof designs to components to add to the new kits, there will be plenty to look forward to as these new products come online.

Like this fantastic new Victorian roof mould, after many weeks of effort it's here and available on the website, very limited quantity at the moment but we are working to bring more on line as soon as possible

This produces a massive roof sheet 22x10cm just cut to the shape you need. I can't wait to see it on a build and all painted up!

There are also other new components and moulds that came online over the past 6 weeks, so keep checking back for all the new stuff.

And it just gets better, yet another first. A Victorian old English style shop front mould, that produces this really beautiful shop window.

Again it's only just in production and very limited edition but more will be along soon. Thanks again Tony for making the masters that made this possible.

Finding Inspiration

I just can't help myself, always out and about looking at what to build next, you may have seen this on the Facebook page. I have no idea how I am going to do the round roof for this building, I think I better ask Tony to work his magic. (I think he will have a heart attack when I ask him haha.)

New inspiration photos are now going on the website, if you have any cool photos please send them in and I will look to put them on the site.

Dont forget to check out the members areas as there is lots of new content on the way, and if you get a little time please help us spread the word on the facebook page, the more we share the more we can keep building.

lastly please share more of your great work as its a real inspiration to our new members, just send in your photos or projects and I will do my best to get them online as quickly as I can. See you all next month - Keep Building

News from our members

There is so much going on, Tony is still busy working on lots of new components,

Jeff is busy again after his holidays and is continuing his work on new buildings and plans for our new kits, Rob is busy as always creating his scenery to die for and lots of you are sending in your fab models for the galleries

A new step by build is now on the website.

Thanks to Rob for all the hard work in bringing this great model online.

See the Lock keepers house

Marks general store is finished. Fantastic job Mark, loving the detail

See Marks model in the members pages

New on the Shop

As always there will be new content on the shop as and when it is available, be sure to watch for offers as they change all the time.

Visit Shop